AMUSEMENTS.

MR. NAT C. GOODWIN AT THE GRAND.

To-night at the Grand Opera House the versatile and popular comedian, Mr. Nat C. Goodwin, will open his annual engagement in this city, appearing as "Mathias" in the great burlesque on Henry Irving's "Bells," and as "Christopher Blizard" in the comedy of "Confusion," both new parts to amuse-goers here. The fireboys have sold a large number of tickets, and the engagement promises to be one of the most successful for years. This season Mr. Goodwin is supported by one of the strongest companies he has ever had, including, among others, Walter Reynolds, Robert Cootie, Jr., Alf Fisher, Edward Seabrooke, Edwin F. Goodwin, Miss Adele Waters, Miss Jennie Weatherly, Miss Hattie Delano and Miss Maggie Holloway. Speaking of a recent performance, a Cincinnati paper says: "That it was a success scarcely need be added—for in what has Goodwin failed?—but the extent and lasting effect of that success can not be described. Like the more serious performance of the great English tragedian, it can never be forgotten. The more applauded performance, however, was that of 'Confusion.' His audience was composed mainly of habitual theatergoers, and to the majority the play was quite familiar, but the performance was a revelation to the many. As Christopher Blizard, Nat Goodwin is without a rival. In it he has reached perfection as a comedian, and remembrances of John Owens, and men of that ilk, pale almost into insignificance."

"Dad's Girl." AT ENGLISH'S.
To-night at English's will be presented for the first time Miss Lizzie May Ulmer and Mr. George Boniface in "Dad's Girl," the latest success of Miss Ulmer, as "Moll," will be seen at her best, as the part is naturally adapted to her talents. They do say she outdoes all previous efforts. Mr. Boniface acts as a powerful support. The play is strictly American, contains nothing "ludicrous" or "frivolous." It is of the Madison Square quality of plays, and worthy of liberal patronage.

Fannie Beane and Charles Gliddy, in "Collars and Cuffs," closed to good business last night. It is hoped there will be no one "to differ" with us in wishing Fannie and Charles continued success.

A packed house greeted Alice Oates and her troupe last night at the Zoo. The attraction was the burlesque opera of "Robin Hood," which seemed to delight immensely the vast crowd present. Miss Oates sang and acted with her old-time vigor. Miss Louise Leonard, as "Marion," was very attractive. She has a particularly sweet voice. In an encore she rendered "Goin' Toward the Rye" beautifully. Josie Lance as "Will Scarlett," introduced some very graceful dancing, while Annie Livingston, as "The Sheriff," was "immaculate." About the best part of the performance is James Sturges, as "Sir Gilbert." He is very famous and "look" with the boys hugely.

Matinee to-day and another performance to night. Mr. Betti Danbly, as the premier danseuse, introduced some very attractive pinettes and late novelties of the Parisian stage.

Alice Oates matinee at the Zoo this afternoon at 2.

"Dad's Girl." Lizzie May Ulmer, at English's to-night.

Nat Goodwin, the fireman's friend, at the Grand Opera House to-night.

The English Opera House management think that Miss Lizzie May Ulmer's "Belle," in the "Dad's Girl," next week, will be the event of the theatrical season.

"Three Wives to One Husband" will be the attraction at the Grand the last three nights of next week. We have known "one wife" to be attraction enough for any husband.

"The Two Johns." John Stewart and John Hart, and their excellent comedy company will inaugurate a laughing festival at the Grand next Monday evening. They are "two of the best."

The Hanians "Fantasma" company, which is to appear here at an early date, is composed of some forty people, and carries two car-loads of special scenery. It is, without a doubt, the greatest novelty of the season.

The Dime Museum again delighted large audiences, both yesterday afternoon and last night. The African "Earth Men" and the Rhinehart Juvenile Opera Company in "Red Riding Hood," are the principal attractions. Saturday will be "Children's Day."

Medical Commencement Exercises.

The commencement of the Indiana Eclectic Medical College was held yesterday afternoon at the college hall, with the following programme: Prayer, O. H. P. Abbott. Address on behalf of the faculty by Dr. J. R. Duncan, of Crawfordsville; valedictory by F. H. Austin, of Thornstown; conferring degrees by the dean, Dr. Abbott; presentation of a gold medal by Dr. Currier, of the faculty, to F. H. Austin, for the best examination in theory and practice. The graduating class numbered nine members, as follows: Mrs. Ellen M. Johnson, T. V. Johnson, L. M. Powell, F. H. Austin, S. G. Rodgers, O. C. Carr, W. J. Kidd, J. W. Westfield, F. M. Loper.

Moody Notes.
The city choir met at the First Baptist Church last evening to arrange for the music of the convention. Another meeting will take place Friday evening.

The daily prayer-meeting at Roberts Park Church this afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock, will be led by Dr. McConnell. If the increase in attendance continues, the lecture-room will be filled.

The ticket plan is gaining in favor, especially among the people who are anxious to hear Mr. Moody and will be satisfied with one admission. Not more than 10,000 persons can attend if no person is admitted to more than one session.

Complimenting Postmaster Wildman.
The following letter has been received by Postmaster Wildman from headquarters at Washington:

POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, D. C.
February 14, 1885.
To J. A. Wildman, Postmaster, Indianapolis, Ind.:
Sir—I am pleased to inform you that Inspector Clark reports favorably on the management of the free delivery service of your office. He says the deliveries and collections are promptly made and in time to meet all outgoing mails; that the discipline is good and the records neatly kept; that the Superintendent is competent, and the carriers orderly and industrious. Very respectfully,
First Assistant Postmaster General.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

The General Appropriation Bill Introduced in the House.

The Committee on New Insane Hospitals Submit a Unanimous Report.

Continuation of the Inquiry Into the Affairs of the Knightstown Home—Other Notes.

The bill to provide for a uniform system of text books in the common schools died a natural death yesterday by a vote of 67 to 23.

Representative Passage denies that, in caucus, he introduced a resolution to take Miami from the Eleventh and place it in Ninth Congressional District. Hence a correction is due him.

Mr. Dittmore has taken a step in the direction of reform by introducing a resolution that Committee Clerks shall receive $5 per day only when actually employed. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Fees and Salaries.

The committee reported the Apportionment bill yesterday, and it was engrossed by a vote of 57 to 38, discussion being cut off by moving the previous question soon after the report of the committee was read. Some three or four Democratic members voted with the Republicans.

Mr. Haworth has offered a concurrent resolution instructing Indiana's representatives in Congress to support the bill introduced by Congressman English, asking the General Government to donate to the State the Arsenal grounds adjoining the State House, and of a proposed university. The resolution was referred to the Committee on Education.

Robert Chism and Amelia Chism have memorialized the Legislature, stating that they have been citizens of Indiana for forty-eight years, and are in possession of a piece of property on West North street, this city; that in 1856 Robert Chism, desiring to go to Pike's Peak, borrowed $200 of one Lucien Barbour, and executed a mortgage on said property; that when he returned he found that he had really given a deed instead of a mortgage, and had therein acknowledged a consideration of $1,000. He said he could neither read nor write, and was deceived in making the deed, he thinking it was a mortgage. The case has been in court several times, and the aged couple now appeal to the Legislature for relief, the courts having decided that the fee simple is in Barbour's heirs.

The report of the Special Committee appointed to investigate the affairs of the new insane hospitals was submitted yesterday. The report was signed by all the members of the committee, and contains the following findings and recommendations: (1) That there is at present a pressing need for accommodations for 1,100 insane people, who are scattered about the State in county asylums and private houses. (2) That the commissions have been careful and economical in managing the affairs of the institution. (3) That they have employed approved and economical methods. (4) That the contracts have been carefully drawn, and are secured by good bonds. (5) The plans of the proposed buildings provide for the accommodation of 1,100 insane people. (6) That the foundations have been completed and the superstructures partially constructed in a satisfactory manner. (7) That the amount already expended is $305,202, the amount contracted for $644,411, and the cost of the completed buildings $515,884. (8) That the appropriation for the year ending October 1, 1885, be $275,000, and for the year ending October 1, 1886, be $338,000. (9) That all the contracts and papers in the hands of the commissions be placed on file in the office of the Secretary of State. The report of the committee was ordered printed.

Mr. McMullen yesterday introduced the General Appropriation bill for the support of the State institutions for the current and next fiscal year. The bill makes an increase of about $150,000 over the amount provided for by the Deficiency Appropriation bill passed a few days ago, the principal items being as follows: Thirty-five thousand dollars to the Insane Hospital for a new boiler house, $3,600 for water attachments, $22,300 for repairs on the chapel and adjacent buildings, which gives the institution $60,000 in addition to the regular annual appropriation; $5,000 to Deaf and Dumb Asylum for various repairs; $25,000 for Purdue University for new buildings, shops and machinery; $5,000 additional to each of the State Prisons, and $10,000 additional to the House of Refuge at Plainfield. The total appropriations recommended are $1,181,891, divided for the various departments as follows: Judiciary, $174,700; Insane Hospital, $345,000; Deaf and Dumb Institution, $22,300; Soldiers' Orphans Home, $37,000; Educational Institutions, $79,500; Board of Health, $5,000; Mine Inspector, $1,500; Fish Commissioner, $7,500; Executive Department, $14,620; Secretary of State's Office, $6,250; Auditor, $6,000; Treasurer, $3,420; Attorney General, $3,000; Superintendent of Public Instruction, $5,000; State Librarian, $5,000; Statistical Department, $4,000; Penal and Reformatory Institutions, $285,000; miscellaneous, interest account, etc., $312,200; balance due counties, $116,000; overruns by counties, $51,670. The report was ordered printed.

THE KNIGHTSTOWN INVESTIGATION.
The Knightstown Home Investigating Committee held a session yesterday morning, at which time Miss Nellie Layton was introduced. The committee decided to exclude every one except the members of the committee, and these were pledged to secrecy as to the nature of the evidence of Miss Layton. It is generally understood that she gave some information which would have been startling to the committee had they not been prepared for it by previous evidence.

In the evening several witnesses were introduced as to character, but their testimony did not amount to much. The following were then taken:
John T. Butler—Live at Knightstown. Worked two months at the Home as attendant, when I had twenty-five feeble-minded boys in my division. I understood White could not discharge employees. Was not there when Morgan whipped Bowser. Tark Mills was imposing upon John Hargrave, and after refusing to stop it I whipped him, and by accident I raised a red mark upon his leg. Hargrave was very feeble-minded. Dr. White said I should not whip the boys so hard. I quit there to go to school. Don't know who employed me. Dr. White told me to come there when I first went.

P. M. Gape, Trustee of the Insane Asylum—Have known Goar two years. My office is at Kiefer's drug store. Have had

Goar call on me there. He came there once under the influence of liquor.

At the conclusion of Mr. Gape's testimony Dr. White's counsel stated they were about through with their evidence. Mr. Bynum then introduced John C. S. Gordon. He testified to having met Nellie Layton last July or August, when she came to the office with Goar to make an affidavit. Major Gordon wrote the affidavit, which was read to Nellie. She acquiesced and signed it and he swore her to it.

John Bynum introduced the affidavit, which was a denial of the charge of having gone to Goar's office, on the occasion heretofore charged. It states that affiant never visited Goar's office, never knew where it was, never was in New Castle but once, and that Goar never made any indecent or immoral proposition to her, nor did she ever have any immoral or improper relations with him, and that while at New Castle she was in no other house but Mr. Goar's residence and the school house, and that she was not alone with Goar at any time in any house.

John B. Cook—Live at Knightstown, and have known Dr. White for twenty years, and Goar for fifteen or twenty years. White's character is good. Goar's character for morals is not good, and for sobriety it is not good. Don't know as to his chastity and virtue. Did not say if Frank Kaiser would come here and testify for White I would secure for him a postal clerkship. A number of questions were put to this witness, from which it appeared that he had volunteered to furnish witnesses' names to the officer of the committee, for the purpose of having them appear and testify. Mr. Boyd asked him if he did not know that this costs the State money, to which Mr. Cook replied affirmatively. Chairman Lloyd then asked him to charge the jury with the expense the cost of having these witnesses brought to the city whose name he had furnished. The Sheriff said he had been furnished with five names by Mr. Cook, so that the cost will amount to quite a sum. The committee adjourned to meet this evening, after having held a private consultation upon the retirement of the attorneys and their clients. It is now thought the visit to Knightstown will be made to-morrow.

During the session last night Mr. Lloyd addressed Mr. Bynum concerning the affair of the previous evening with Mr. Byfield, recounting all the facts in the matter. His explanation to Mr. Bynum was satisfactory, and the matter was dropped. The Sentinel did not mean to say yesterday that Mr. Lloyd was sorry Mr. Byfield had left the room, but that he regretted that Mr. Goar had been left before the committee without counsel. The statement was made in the News that the introduction of Nellie Layton as a witness was a surprise to Mr. Goar. The committee feel that this is unjust, and the note of the attorneys or their clients had any reason to be surprised.

MR. HENDRICKS' GAVEL.

The Emblem of Authority and Impartiality. Presented to Mr. Hendricks Last Night.

A large number of ladies and gentlemen assembled in the parlors of the Bates House last evening, the occasion being the presentation of a gavel to Vice President-elect Hendricks by Ben F. Havens, ex-Mayor of Terre Haute. The gavel is made of Indiana hickory, and is the handiwork of John Mack, the seventeen-year-old son of Judge William Mack, of the Prairie City. In presenting the gavel Mr. Havens said:

Mr. Vice President—A young friend of mine has honored me with the duty of presenting to you this beautiful gavel, and with your permission his brief note accompanying it: "Vice President Hendricks: 'DEAR SIR—I have made for you this gavel. Every piece in it is of Indiana hickory, as good as hickory ever produced. I hope you will be pleased to accept it, as in your hands it will ever be the emblem of authority as well as impartiality. Your friend, JOHN G. MACK.'"

Rose Polytechnic Institute.

Indiana is honored by your election. And as you have always been the friend of young men, it is very appropriate for an Indiana boy, at a Indiana school, of Indiana hickory, to construct this little memento.

On the day of your election, it is to know that the boy who made it is the grandson of your old-time friend and colleague, John G. Davis, and the son of your life-long friend, Mr. William Mack. He is seventeen years of age, a student at the Rose Polytechnic Institute, in whose shop he prepared the design and made the work himself. It is truly a piece of little value, but I know it will be treasured by you so long as you live; for will ever remind you of the history books read all over the State last year, which floated high the banners of Cleveland and Hendricks until blessed by victory in November. Its many pieces, so delicately joined together into one, symbolize the firm and eternal union of the State; while the wood, so solid, tenacious and enduring, together with its many veins, will ever suggest the public and private integrity, the boldness of action, and the far-reaching executive wisdom of that hero and statesman whom it has ever been your delight to honor, "Old Hickory," of Tennessee.

On the day of next month, when you call to order the most august deliberative body in the world, the lap of this little gavel will rest in an era of reform and honest government.

Mr. Hendricks responded to the address as follows:
MR. HAVENS—I am gratified that my young friend has chosen you to be his mouthpiece in presenting this beautiful gavel. You and I have been friends for many years, and your presentation is the more agreeable to me, I appreciate this present for many reasons: first, because it is a beautiful piece of handiwork; second, because it is presented by a young gentleman whose youth is yet charming. He is the son of my old-time friend, Judge William Mack, and his friendship is a great privilege. I am proud to have him represent me in Congress from the Terre Haute District many years ago, in our personal relations, in our political views, we agreed. This present from his grandson revives interesting memories. I appreciate it because in the language of the address and of the letter it represents Indiana, and I say to you, sir, that in my hands I shall continue to represent the authority necessary to maintain the peace in legislative proceedings, and necessary to the enactment of wholesome laws, and also that impartiality that is due to all the members of a legislative body. I thank my young friend for the beautiful present.
